Germany Recalls Ambassador to Paris and Warns Widespread
Troubles May be Provoked

INDUSTRIAL REVOLT FEARED

French Premier Does Not See Any
Relation Between Advance and
Withdrawal of U. S. Troops

(By United Press)

Cologne, Jan. 11—The French
Rhine flotilla is moving today from Mayence down the river to Dusseldorf, and Bismarck.

Nancy, Jan. 11—Seventy special
trains have been ordered to transfer the French garrison at Nancy to the Ruhr. The troop movement will take until Saturday to complete.

Dusseldorf, Jan. 11—General De-goutte who is to be in command of this region, arrived to oversee the
forward movements that will back
up the Ruhr occupation force.

Dusseldorf, Jan. 11—Belgian
troops went forward into the Ruhr
a few hours after the French today.
A contingent comprised of two
battalions of infantry, two squadrons of cavalry, a field battery, ten
armored cars and ten escorting airplanes advanced from Mulheim, to the north of Essen.

Paris, Jan. 11—France occupied
the heart of the Ruhr today. Essen
was surrounded by an army of 35-000 men. Engineers started work outlining penalties in coal which Germany must pay for reparations
defaults.

The German government re-called
its ambassadors to Paris and in a note to the powers warned that
wide-spread troubles may be provoked throughout Europe by France's act.

A French army of cavalry, artillery, infantry and air forces spread
a steel net around Essen, industrial
heart of the Ruhr valley, second
richest coal producing spot in the world. The Belgians, in lesser numbers, moved in with the French, occupying ground northward of the city. All of the troops are white.

The German protest, contained in a note sent to France, Italy, and Belgium, was a solemn warning that industrial revolution might result
from seizure of the Ruhr. Withdrawal of the German ambassador did
not constitute a breach of relations,
however, it was announced and the French ambassador will remain at Berlin.

The line of the newly occupied region; seized at dawn today, runs from Birchenhausen to Essen to Werden to Wrattingen.

Two divisions of French infantry
and one of cavalry make up the advance army of occupation. The district held is the richest region of Europe, second only to Pennsylvania
in coal production.

A little French army, small in numbers but equipped as no war
machine ever was before, moved into the rich Ruhr valley and occupied territory in the heart of the coal mining region.

With infantry, cavalry, tanks,
field pieces and airplanes thrown in
a steel trap around the wealthy industrial city of Essen as a guarantee of German good behavior, French
engineers will not supervise the mining and distribution of Germany's coal.

Word came back from the army
of occupation headquarters that French troops which had moved forward from Dusseldorf before dawn,
had reached Essen without incident.
An advance guard of cyclists, the fifth dragoons and armored cars and
machine guns entered the city.

The main body of troops and artillery spread to the north and south, surrounding it. The population was calm and factories were running.

What little tingle of excitement
the French capital got from the news was enhanced by Germany's sudden action in withdrawing her
ambassadors, an act at one time

A. W. Wilkinson Honored By Indiana Bakers' Association at Annual Meeting

VICE-PRESIDENT LAST YEAR

Large Representation Of Bakers
From All Over State At Sessions
Which Continue Today

A. W. Wilkinson, Rushville baker, who has been prominent for several years in the Indiana Bakers' association, and who was elected vice-president last year, was again honored Wednesday when the association elected him president, at their annual meeting now being held in Indianapolis.

The sessions are being held at the Claypool hotel in that city, and a large representation of bakers from all over the state, has been in attendance.

Other officers were M. B. Whitehead, Goshen, vice president, and V.
W. Vanderbilt, Indianapolis, treasurer. C. P. Ehlers, Indianapolis, was reappointed secretary.

A recent ruling by the United States Department of Agriculture requiring that loaves labeled "milk
bread" must be made with milk as at least one-third of their liquid content was discussed by the bakers.
Methods for complying with the rule
were outlined.

This afternoon the bakers were to be addressed by A. Wegener of Syracuse, N. Y., on "The Increasing Importance of Milk to the Bread."

The morning session of the convention was given over to the address of the retiring president, Engene K. Quigg of Richmond, and to reports of the secretary and treasurer. An interesting talk on "Sugars" was also given by C. W. Nord-
land of Philadelphia, a chemist.

GERMANY CRIES THEFT AS FRANCE TAKES COAL

Plans To Notify Allies That She Will Expect Them To Pay—To Appeal
To United States

NOTE FORWARDED TO HUGHES

(By United Press)

Berlin, Jan. 11.—Germany today
planned to notify the allies that coal
seized by them in the Ruhr will be considered as having been stolen and that the allies must pay for it.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Germany
has decided to appeal her case in connection with French occupation
of the Ruhr directly to the United States government, it was learned today.

Dr. Otto Wiefeldt, Germany's
ambassador, tomorrow will present
to Secretary of State Hughes a note
which is understood to have been received from the Berlin government,
setting forth the position of Germany in the face of the French march
into the Ruhr.

Whether the American government
will take any further steps in the European crisis following the orders
for withdrawal of American troops
from Germany, is problematical and largely depends on developments and circumstances.

LIVESTOCK MEN IN CENTER OF STAGE

Breeders And Leaders Of Dairy Interests Discuss Problems At Purdue Short Course

Recognition Given Winners In Hoosier
Ton Litter Club, New Hog
Growing Project

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 11.—The Indiana livestock breeder and the leaders of the dairy interests in the state
held the center of the stage today at the annual farmers' short course at Purdue University. It was livestock and dairy day, primarily and
the stockmen and dairy men were
out in force.

Recognition was given the winners
in the Hoosier Ton Litter Club the new hog growing project which has taken the attention of the agricultural interests by storm. Medals
were given each man at especially arranged exercises held in the livestock judging pavilion on the university.

The Indiana State Dairy Association paid tribute to the best dairy-
men by presenting the medals to the members of the 300-Pound Cow Club. To win this honor, a man must have ten or more cows that have produced 300 pounds or more butterfat during the year.

Annual meetings of the Indiana Home Economics' Association and the Indiana Vegetable Growers' Association also were held today, with a big delegation out for each session.

R. C. Jenkins, of Orleans, president, presided at the meeting of the Livestock Breeders' Association.
J. R. Wiley of Purdue, who has charge of the Ton Litter contest gave
a report on this work, and announced
plans for the coming year. Following this the medals were awarded the 32 men who grew the ton litters, the 17 who grew silver medal litters and the six in the bronze medal class. An exhibit of Purdue
livestock was made. J. M. McKee,
of Versailles, Ky., one of the most successful hog men in Kentucky,
gave his methods of management and marketing, and John G. Imboden, of Decatur, Ill., a highly successful cattle feeder, spoke on this phase of livestock business.

This program was followed by
Hereford and Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Associations.

An interesting feature of the morning program not only for stock-
men but also for all men and women
at the short course was the meat
cutting demonstration by Prof. C.
W. McDonald of Iowa State College.
He cut up both hog and beef car-
casses to obtain the most out of them
and explained how to obtain best results in butchering and curing of meat.

W. O. Mills of Mooresville, president of the Indiana State Dairy Association, presided at the annual meeting of this group. E. D. Waid,
of the Dairy Marketing Department
of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation,
told of the success obtained in that state in the co-operative marketing
of dairy products. C. R. George,
of the Indiana Farmers Federation
gave the results obtained in co-operative marketing of dairy products
thus far in Indiana.

Prof. L. H. Fairchild discussed
feeding of cows for official records,
after which G. A. Williams of the dairy extension staff, in charge of the cow testing associations discussed these organizations and their work and announced the winners in the 300 pound cow class. J. L. Wann of the extension staff, then told of the milk campaigns being waged in Indiana and the results thus far obtained. Dr. E. B. Haskins, Indianapolis, in charge of bovine tuberculosis eradication in this state for
the federal government, told of the
work thus far accomplished in Indiana in overcoming t. b. in cows.
Dr. Haskins reported that 12,572
herds had passed one disease-free
tests, these herds representing 92-426 head. The number of fully accredited herds is 2,265 or 34,670
head of cattle. There are 15,812
herds of cattle under supervision

SPECIAL MEETING FOR MEN AND BOYS

E. Richard Edwards Will Speak on
The Subject, "How The Tramp
Came Back," Sunday Afternoon

TO CLOSE WITH PIANOLOGY

Large Auditorium of Christian Church Lacks Little of Being Full
Wednesday Night

The Rev. E. Richard Edwards of Logansport, Ind., who is conducting
a series of revival meetings at the Main Street Christian church, will speak at a special meeting for men
and boys, which is being arranged
for Sunday afternoon at the church.
The Rev. Mr. Edwards' subject
will be "How The Tramp Came Back," closing with a "Pianology".
Homer Cole's orchestra will provide
special music for the meeting.

The large auditorium of the church lacked but little of being filled for the services Wednesday evening. The fine audience listened attentively to another one of the Rev.
Mr. Edwards' very interesting and soul-lifting sermons on the subject of "What Is the Gospel? Why It's Powers?", in which he presented the definition given by Paul to the Corinthians declaring the Gospel
to be the death, burial and resurrection of Christ.

This was the "good news" that has brought light, life and hope to all men everywhere this Gospel has been preached—the Gospel of God's love to all mankind as expressed in Christ His Son, the speaker said.

Tonight the subject of the sermon
will be "Three Parables About Three Prodigals". Friday evening the sermon will be of special interest to the young people of the city, the theme being "The Trophy Rooms of the Soul." Especially are the high school young men and women invited
to this service.

Mrs. Derby Green will sing a solo
at the service this evening. Many members of the other churches are
in attendance each evening and a most brotherly and Christian-like
church leaders. The Rev. Mr. Mc-Coglin, pastor of the Christian church at Milroy, was present last night and offered prayer.

lice court here several days ago against Blaine Fritch of Indianapolis and Frank Rogers, of Rushville, in connection with the alleged theft of a diamond ring, has been dis-

as the cause for the action.

Rushville was the prosecuting witness in the case against Fred Clevenger who was convicted recently on a charge of selling liquor unlawfully.
Fritch was arrested at Indianapolis on the local charge, but was released when officers there were informed that the charge had been dismissed.
Mae Stevens of this city filed the affidavit in the case. According to an Indianapolis dispatch, Homer Smalley, age 24, known as Dick Black, has been arrested on a charge of planting booze in the Fritch home, 708 North Alabama, St., Indianapolis. Smalley has confessed to the officers, according to the report, and has implicated a third party who hired him to plant the booze.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 11.—Use of tobacco and reckless driving by motorists were attacked in bills introduced in the legislature today.

Representatives John Peterson of Swayzee and Lonzo L. Schull of Sharpsville presented measures to prohibit the advertisement of cigars, cigarettes and chewing tobacco. The senate tentatively approved a bill providing not more than a year im-state senate today. This would call for an appropriation of $240,000 for the original buildings and equipment and an annual appropriation of $75,000 for upkeep.

Cities and towns that are dissatisfied with the public utilities which

Senator Hayes — Repeal of the absent voters law.

ATTEMPT AT MURDER SEEN

Federal Agents Say Bullet Mark was Found in Auto Door of W. O. Andrews, Star Witness

(By United Press)

Court House, Bastrop, La., Jan.
11—Fred Higginbotham, named as a member of the "terrorist band" charged with the murder of Watt Daniel and Thomas Richards, testified in court here today, that he had been a victim of mob attacks.

Higginbotham told how he was held
up by a group of black masked men
a week before Richards and Daniel
were brutally murdered.

Federal agents declared they had discovered what appeared to have been an attempt to assassinate W.
O. Andrews, one of the state's star witnesses. A bullet mark was found in the door of Andrews' automobile
but he was unable to tell how or
when the dent was made.

Higginbotham said the hold-up occurred while he was enroute to Mer Rouge. "Armed men jumped into the road and forced me to stop," he said. "After ordering me to wait a moment, I was commanded to turn around and go back to Bastrop."

The witness admitted he was a charter member of the Ku Klux Klan
in the parish. "Captain Skipwith is cyclops," he said. Higginbotham said he had never been delegated to perform any duty in connection with his Klan membership. He swore he had no recollection of what was discussed at the meetings.

Evidence on Complaint of Ray Owen Against Owen L. Carr is Taken Under Advisement

NEW SUITS PLACED ON FILE

The case of Ray Owen against Owen L. Carr, a complaint to set aside judgment and default, was heard this morning in the circuit court before Judge Sparks, and the matter was taken under advisement,
following the presentation of the evidence by both sides. Only a few witnesses were used, and not much
time was required with the matter.
A new suit has been placed on file, in which Ira Martin, owner of the Martin Hardware store of St.
Paul, Ind., is plaintiff and Minnie Linville and Lon Linville are defendants, the complaint being on a note.
The plaintiff alleges that a note was
negotiated and that it is not paid
out, and that he should be entitled to $200 judgment.

Five damage suits, all against John N. Larmore, originating in the Henry circuit court, will be sent here for trial, according to a Newcast dispatch. The complaints were brought following an automobile accident
and the plaintiffs are Benjamin Sleeth, Anna Sleeth, William F. Hollis and Jennie Hollis the latter having two complaints.

It is expected that the cases will arrive here in a few days and will be heard in the next term of court.

AMUSEMENTS

Coming to The Mystic

"Desert's Crucible" is the title of the latest Ben Wilson drama, starring Jack Hoxie, written and directed by Roy Clements. All concerned have produced a successful offering, which will be presented at the Mystic theatre on Saturday.

The Fires of the Desert try men. They go through the fire of suffering, and savage life, and are made over.

You have not such chance in big cities, where life is artificial, as you have far from the haunts of men, of proving your manhood. It is trying enough in all conscience to continue to be a man in the stifling rush of the New York Subway at the rush hour at Times Square. But take some young fellow with the veneer of civilization upon him, pluck him from the artificiality of New York, and throw him among the red-blooded men of the wilds or the gold fields or Nevada, and it would be interesting to watch what would happen to him.

Jack Hoxie has to go through some such ordeal as this in the part that he plays in "Desert's Crucible", and he comes out of it a "he-man" all right.

Today's program consisted of the seventh episode of the serial "Timber Queen," in which Ruth Roland is starred, and a western, Dick Hutton in "Fearless Dick". "Conceit" and Selznick News were the offerings today.

"The Old Homestead"

Whither did "the wandering boy" in the Denman Thompson play, "The Old Homestead" wander? That is the question many playgoers have asked themselves. Now the answer is shown by Paramount in the screen version of the play, directed by James Cruze, which is being shown at the Princess again today and Friday.

Macao, China, is the principal scene shown in the wanderings of Reuben, played by Harrison Ford, who meets there Happy Jack, portrayed by T. Roy Barnes. The great casino or gambling palace, constructed for the purpose, was peopled with many characters and among those were:

35 Chinamen, 14 Chinese women and three babies; 40 white men and women; 10 Portuguese men; 10 Hawaiians; 4 dancers; 3 Siamese women and 15 sailors, British army officers, sea captains, waiters, etc.

As the story is now told, Reuben, after his escape from prison in Ganzey, lands in China. Down and out he finds there the tramp who helped him make his escape and who is winning at the gambling tables. He stakes Reuben to return to America and himself later turns up at the old homestead to find Reuben exonerated and everyone happy. Happy Jack as a tag line declares that it is funny how they all come back to the old homestead!

The Chinese interlude affords a striking contrast to the rural atmosphere of the play, as do the scenes in New York City, 1885, and in other portions of the country. Theodore Roberts plays Uncle Josh.

significant of impending declaration of war. It was understood in official circles that the German government did not intend to break off diplomatic relations.

Another factor of the situation discussed by the French was the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine.

Premier Poincare, it was stated authoritatively, does not see any relation between the Ruhr advance and the American government's action. The withdrawal, he thinks, is a little unfortunate but not an unforeseen act.

There was some fear of an industrial move by Germany against French occupation of the Ruhr, such as a general strike by workers, or a closing down of factories.

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Essen, Jan. 11—French troops entered Essen at 9 o'clock this morning, encountering no resistance.

Blue-clad cavalry appeared at the outskirts of Essen—Bredene, suburb of this city, a few minutes before the hour. Three tanks, sent on ahead yesterday, which had squatted like huge toads at the cross roads all night, came suddenly to life and led the march into the city proper.

Other cavalry converged on Essen on several roads. Then came infantry, spreading out gradually to north and south to form the jaws of the trap of steel that is to hold this rich industrial center while France collects.

There was no trouble this morning as the horizon blue of the first Poilus showed in the outskirts and none was anticipated.

The citizens of Essen are preparing a protest to the United States and strict prohibition is to be enforced. Otherwise life will go on as normally as the Germans can make it.

The army that had marched before daybreak came rapidly on into Essen. Along the line of march, as the first cavalry passed, other tanks that had lain in wait rumbled into the procession. There were numbers of them on the road from Kettwig to Bredene.

As the French troops swung eastward through the lifting fog, the columns passed German stolid teamsters, puffing on their pipes, driving out to farms or markets, displaying only mild curiosity at the sight of the advancing French hosts.

The French cavalrymen were gay as they pranced through Kettwig, their picked charges mincing over the heavy cobblestones. They chanted little snatches of French songs and their pennants fluttered gaily in the morning sun.

The long blue line on its eastward march wound around the steep, hairpin curves of sharp hills above the Ruhr river, then dropped down to the flats along the banks and into Kettwig.

The path ran straight before them, into Bredene. The first of the cavalry that reached the outskirts of Essen was in three sections, with outposts ahead to stir the tanks to action and pass the word to the countryside that the French were coming.

Germany Recalls Ministers

Berlin, Jan. 11—Germany has recalled her ambassador from Paris and her minister from Brussels, but does not intend the move as a diplomatic rupture, it was stated officially.

The German charge d'affaires will remain at Paris to act as ambassador and similar arrangements will be made for relations with Belgium.

The act of the Guno government in withdrawing its representatives from France and Belgium came immediately after receipt of notification of France's intention to occupy the Ruhr, starting today. Germany made this move as a protest.

Before the Indiana Vegetable Growers' Association, various production and marketing problems were taken up, with growers from over the state leading in the discussion. William Meyer, Indianapolis, president of the group, spoke on succession and companion cropping. W. W. Stauffer, of Akron, who has obtained such remarkable yields of potatoes running as high as 425 bushels per acre on eight acres, and similar striking results with onions, spoke on these two crops. H. Matthew Callahan, 23, Says He Killed Sigmund Moss, Wealthy Clothier, in Self Defense

IN CHICAGO HOTEL LOBBY

Chicago, Jan. 11—Authorities today checked the story told by Matthew Callahan, 23, night clerk, who shot and killed Sigmund Moss, wealthy clothing manufacturer, in the lobby of the Seville hotel here last night.

Callahan told police Moss and his wife quarreled in their room and disturbed other guests. The clerk said he warned the couple they would have to keep quiet or he would put them out.

"I went downstairs to the desk", Callahan said. "A few minutes later Moss came down and attacked me. I pulled a revolver from the drawer and shot him."

Mrs. Moss declared she and her husband had quarreled and Callahan attempted to intervene and was abusive.

"My husband went down stairs and that is the last I know", she said.

Mrs. Moss was formerly an entertainer at one of the most notorious cabarets here.

PHYSICIANS ADVISE

A Real First-Aid Method to Relieve and Break up Colds

To Stimulate the Circulation, Heat up the Chilled Blood and Flush the Waste Poisons From the Intestines and Bowels

It is a recognized fact that hot medicinal herb tea is one of the very best home remedies to use to assist in breaking up colds which when neglected often develop into influenza, pneumonia or other serious sickness. It is old fashioned of course, but nevertheless its effectiveness is readily admitted everywhere today.

Many physicians now advise their patients to always have on hand a supply of medicinal tea for emergency purposes.

Harsh, drastic, habit-forming drugs should be avoided. The risk to one's general health is too great, because certain drugs have a tendency to depress the heart action and disturb the nervous system.

Millions of people all over the world are today using Bulgarian Herb Tea as a reliable first-aid to help break up colds, and also to keep the intestines and bowels cleansed and free of the waste poisons that so often cause sickness and ill health.

Bulgarian Herb Tea is prescribed by many physicians, and druggists everywhere honestly recommended this pure healthful laxative tea tonic to their customers. Why not see your druggist at once and get a small package for emergency purposes? You or some other member of your family may need it to help fight a cold this winter.

PERFECT PEACE:—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26: 3.

Bettering Rush County

Rush county breathes and lives through the land. Whatever is of most interest to agriculture likewise is of most interest to every community in Rush county. The interests of farming business and those of the county seat and the other towns of the county are undeniably linked together. That which is done to improve farming is an improvement for the whole county.A public sale pavilion in Rushville would be of immense value and ser-vice to the farmers of Rush county.
It would provide a place where farmers could hold private sales and where combination auctions could be held to great advantage to the buyer and the seller.The central location of the county seat would offer the seller a greater market and with a large demand, prices would naturally improve. A farm sale in a large commodious building in Rushville would naturally attract more buyers because of the conveniences afforded and because of ease with which the place could be reached, as compared with a sale in some remote corner of the county.A public sale pavilion could be adapted for community purposes, such as basketball games, exhibits of county products and other events.
We have been compelled to let the county products show go by this winter because no suitable place is available. The first one last year gave promise of being a very creditable thing for Rush county, but it bloomed forth with great prospects only to die because the facilities were not here for handling it. The farmers of Rush county have the live stock and the produce and they are more than willing to show it. So it's up to some one to provide the place.There should be enough public-spirited men in Rush county to form a stock company and erect a building of this kind that would meet the needs of the county such as it would. Such a step would be a service that would reap rich rewards not only in community benefit, but also for the individuals that fostered such a project.

Teaching by Example

While the administration at Washington is trying to sell the country on a merchant marine, the people of the middlewest, where the most opposition to the measure is found, are wondering why the administration itself is not sold on the proposition.Many are confounded when they try to harmonize the appeals of those in favor of American-owned vessels with the attitude of the administration and its representatives.A case in point is that of George Harvey, American ambassador to King George's court, who came over to the United States on a diplomatic mission aboard a British-owned ship.
And he had the suite de lux.That in itself seems a small matter but the folks out here who are not directly affected by maritime business are inclined to give an incident of this character more importance than it probably deserves. It merely goes to show that the administration can best convince the people of the United States that it believes in an American merchant marine by supporting the American vessels that are still sailing the high seas, even though they don't carry bars.

Turning the Tables

We have seen frisky motorists go tearing along the highways and laugh sardonically when some pedestrian had to jump to keep from being crushed under the wheels.If the tables could be reversed, and the motorists were required to make a lightning jump to save his own hide, he might do a little cussing himself.And, too, he might realize what an unmitigated nuisance he is to the public and how low he stands in the estimation of law abiding motorists and the public at large.

Columbus Bull Dogs, Who Administered Worst Defeat of Season to Locals, Coming

RUSHVILLE HAS IMPROVED

Rushville high school basketball team will face a stiff proposition here Friday night, when the Columbus team will invade the local court for a forty minute tilt. The Columbus team gave Rushville their worst defeat of the season last November, but since that time the Scarlet aggregation has shown some improvement and may give the visiting team a harder game than is expected.

Columbus has made a good record this year, but has been defeated by some of the best teams, losing to Vincennes, Frankfort, Franklin, and Mammal of Indianapolis.

The preliminary game for tomorrow night will be played between the Rushville second team and the team from the Gings high school.

Tickets have been received here for the game at Connersville next Friday week, January 19, and they may be secured from E. B. Butler, high school principal. Only one hundred tickets are available, and every seat in the gymnasium will be sold before the game, and no one will be admitted unless they have a ticket.

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

If I Knew Advertising—

I COULD very easily cash in on my knowledge. In the evening, or in my spare hours, I could pass my knowledge along to the small merchant in my neighborhood who desires to get the most out of his advertising. It would make no difference whether he advertised only in hand-bill form, or on movie slides, or cards, I could prepare powerful copy for him, and show him how to do likewise.

Of course, I would have to do some advertising myself to get business, the same as any one else. The way I would choose in this instance would be a Daily Republican Want Ad.

Courage Biggest Asset in Sport

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 11—Some years back Johnny McTaggart started out to be the best jockey on the track. He was one of the leading riders of the country and his services were in great demand.

One day in 1918 he went down in a spill and was badly injured. When he got back in the saddle again he found his nerve had departed. He had acquired a family and he didn't like the risks.

Successful riders, as successes in all sport, have to have the heart to take chances and McTaggart slipped from the successful class.

He was still game in the belief that it would come back to him and he was courageous enough to fight the worst of all battles—with himself.

Leaving the big tracks, he went around to the smaller ones and fought until the old daring came back.

He returned to the big time late in the last season and rode with his former class. Trainers and owners whispered among themselves: "Johnny's got his nerve back."

His comeback was rewarded with a contract to ride next season for the stable of Mrs. Payne Whitney.

Two years ago the New York Yankees took south with them for spring training, a young infielder, Chick Fewster, one of the most promising players that had come up from the minors in years.

The Yanks and the Brooklyn Robins had arranged an exhibition tour on the way north and in one of the games, Fewster was hit on the head by one of the Jeff Pfeffer's fast balls, one of the speediest deliveries in the game.

Fewster lingered between life and death for weeks. Operations were necessary and his career in baseball was despaired of, because old timers said: "They're always gun-shy after that."

Recovering, Fewster came back to the Yanks and instead of showing timidity at the bat he seemed over-daring and the pitchers were almost afraid of him. His heart surely was there and his courage never had been weakened, but the injury left him physically weak and he was unable to play in hot weather, dizzy spells seizing him when the sun boiled down on his head.

Fewster is still in the business, still fighting to come clear back. He is expected to be one of the regulars of the Boston Red Sox next season and if his heart has anything to do with it, he will.

Jack Kid Wolfe, of Cleveland, used to be rated several years ago as one of the greatest bantamweights in the ring. He was a near champion and was going good with featherweights.

The Kid went out of his class and hit a street car and was nearly ruined. His head was all cut up and he was generally reduced almost to junk.

He recovered, but his eyes were bad and his shoulders were bound. Friends patted him on the back and told him it was too bad. He had a family and he hadn't saved much money.

Everyone believed he was all in, but the Kid himself. Managers all gave him the laugh when he wanted to work for them but finally Tommy McGinty took him and the Kid is back.

He may never be a champion now, but he's got the heart of a champion and he's a first rater making money—one of the main ideas.

During the past summer he fought Frankie Jerome in New York. Jerome knocked him down seven times in the first round and five times more in the second, but the Kid kept bobbing up and then he started.

The judges gave the decision to Jerome, but it was the best draw anyone ever saw.

Hittin' 'Em and Missin' 'Em

Let's Cut It Short

Hittin' 'em makes a motion that the curtain raisers, or the preliminary games, ought to be like the Pennsylvania railroad,—curtailed. It wouldn't be so bad if the first game got started at seven o'clock, and the big game at eight, but when the games are not started until late, we can't stand such a long evening. Fifteen minute halves for the first game would help, but an earlier start would be better. Anyone goin' to second the motion.

We know Val Conway wants the game started earlier. He told us so at the last game, and said it was his last trip.

Thrills and Shocks

It's too slow for me—

I will confess;

I'd never get a thrill

In playing chess.

—Cincinnati Enquirer.

If its thrills you want

I'll tell you, by jinks,

Just try that old game—

Tiddle-de-winks.

—Warren (Ohio) Tribune.

Humph!

Have the deuces wild

Leave in the joker—

And sit in a game

Of old stud poker.

—Marion Star

Fill the bleachers full

See 'em toss 'em in,

It's the greatest game yet,

Especially if you win.

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THIS COACH

One of the fat high school coaches, near here, whose team didn't pay attention to his instructions, informs Hittin' 'em, after a recent defeat, that if he knew what made the Tower of Pisa lean, by Judas Priest, he'd take some of the stuff himself.

Let's Go to Fairview

Fairview high is going to stage a tourney January 27, according to word received by Hittin' 'em. The teams who will take part are Alquina, Everton, Bentonville, Orange, Gings, Glenwood, Fairview and Waterloo. Don't let Waterloo scare you Gings, you're just as big as they are.

Richmond also is having a tourney Saturday. Ten teams, including Dayton and Eaton, O., will be there. Richmond will find that eatin' Ohio is a hard job.

Columbus Bull Dogs still want revenge. We thought they got it a few weeks ago, when they walloped Rushville, but they want revenge now for the defeat that Rushville gave them at the regional tourney last spring.

Newcastle is another team which has revenge in their eyes Friday. Their old time rivals, Spiceland, will meet them in the coliseum. Spiceland beat them a few weeks ago by a big score, but Newcastle has promised to make the next game closer. You know they like 'em close.

If the Shoe Fits—

Expert coaches slip us a tip. They say that girls and cigarettes are bad for the player in training. The players know that cigarettes are against the rule, but they can't figure—how a date will cause them to fall down in the game. Late hours, and idle dreams, is as bad as nicotine, so they say. You don't suppose there is any connection with the Rushville team, do you?

Coach Mendenhall of Newcastle laid off his best players when they played Rushville, because they broke training rules. Watch 'em close coach, they might be breakin' 'em again before they play down here on February 2.

Moscow, we are all here but you. Why not answer present, now and then.

Sally, who lives down near our alley, wants to correct us. She says that Milton is a poet, and not a basketball team. But listen, Sal, ol' girl, Hittin' 'em asked Cliff Mitchell about it, and he vouches for the truth, and says that his Raleigh team is really going to play Milton Friday night, and that Milton is a town 'way up there someplace.

KNOCK 'EM COLD RALEIGH

Hittin' 'em's First Boquet

Ollie, Rushville's back guard, game down to give us the glad hand. Says he is glad it is us, and not him, because he was threatened several times today. Ollie said it was good stuff, and we believe him, don't you? (That is another boquet).

SCHAEFFER TO MEET HOPPE

Earns Right to Take Fling at Champ By Defeating Conti

Young Jake overwhelmed Conti in the third block of their match here last night, counting 500 to the Frenchman's 131.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu." 35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

CARPENTER WINS A MAT DECISION

Lancaster (O.) Middleweight Wrestling Champion Contender Obtains Fall in Reynolds Match

WINS IN RUNNING TACTICS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 11—Ray Carpenter, Lancaster (O.) middleweight wrestling champion contender, won the decision over Jack Reynolds of Indianapolis, world's welter-weight title holder, at the Empire theatre Wednesday night in one of the most furious mat struggles ever held in this city. Giving away eleven pounds in weight, the local star lost no friends in his defeat, as he more than held his own with his heavier opponent at least three-fourths of the time during the two hours of grappling.

Only one fall was obtained, Carpenter winning the lone pin after 1 hour 38 minutes and 23 seconds of wrestling with a head-lock. This left 21 minutes and 37 seconds to complete the match. Reynolds made a desperate effort to put the bout all square with aggressive points in his favor in the way of a decision and a fall needed in the limited time remaining, but was held off chiefly through the running-away tactics of the visitor. Twice Jack clamped on the deadly leg-split and once the Japanese toe hold, only to have his opponent wiggle off the mat. Prior to the first fall, on three different occasions Carpenter was all but pinned with the "ripper" and skidded off the mat.

Misplaced Love Lead to Tragedy CHAPTER XI

She paused, and stood for a moment confronting us all with proud eyes and flaming cheeks, then amid a hubbub which did not seem to affect her in the least, she stepped down, and approaching the man who, she had been told, had a right to her full confidence, she said, loud enough for all who wished to hear her:

He bowed and as they disappeared from the great hall the hubbub of voices became tumultuous.

I found myself averse to any kind of talk. Till I could meet Sinclair's eye, I should not feel free to be my own ordinary self again. But Sinclair showed every evidence of wishing to keep in the background, and I thought it odd and very unlike him not to give me an opportunity to express my congratulations at the turn affairs had taken and the frank attitude assumed by Gilbertine. Before I knew it, I was the prey of fresh doubts which I did my best to smother, because I was still too much under the influence of Gilbertine's personality to wish to believe aught but what her words conveyed. She must have spoken the truth, but was it the entire truth? Ah, Dorothy! it was time some one told her that Gilbertine had openly vindicated her and that she could now come forth and face her friends without hesitation and without dread. Was she still in the conservatory?

Approaching the place by the small door connecting it with the hall-way in which I stood, I took a hurried look within. It was empty, and so was the library beyond. Coming back, I accosted Dutton and asked him if he knew where Miss

Camerden was? He answered that she stood in the rear hall a little while before, listening to Miss Murray; that she had then gone up stairs by the spiral staircase, leaving word with him that if anybody wanted her she would be found in the small boudoir over the porch.

I thanked him and was on my way to join her, when Mr. Armstrong called me. He must have kept me a half-hour in his room, discussing every aspect of the affair. I presently found myself again in the hall, where the first person I ran against was Sinclair.

He started and so did I at this unexpected encounter. Then we stood still, and I stared at him in amazement, for everything about the man was changed, and in nothing was this change more marked than in his attitude toward myself. Yet he tried to be friendly.

"You heard what Gilbertine said. There is no reason for doubting her words. I do not doubt them and you will show yourself my friend by not doubting them either." Then with some impetuosity he pursued: "Our wedding is postponed—indeinitely. There are reasons why this seemed best to Miss Murray. To you, I will say that postponed nuptials seldom culminate in marriage. In fact, I have just released Miss Murray from all obligations to myself."

What was I to say, what could I say, in response to such a declaration, following so immediately upon his warm assertion of her innocence? Nothing.

He saw my embarrassment, possibly my emotion, for he smiled somewhat bitterly and remarked: "Miss Murray has my good wishes. Out of respect to her position I shall show her a friend's attention while we remain in this house. That is all I have to say, Walter. You and I have held our last conversation on this subject."

He was gone before I had sufficiently recovered to realize that in this conversation I had had no part neither had it contained any explanation of the very facts which had once formed our greatest grounds for doubt, namely, Beaton's dream, the smothered cry uttered behind Sinclair's shoulder when he first made known the deadly qualities of the little vial, and lastly, the strange desire acknowledged to by both these young ladies to touch and hold an object calculated rather to repel than to attract the normal feminine heart.

My one desire was to act, and that immediately. Dorothy, for all Gilbertine's intimation to the contrary, held the key to the enigma in her own breast.

My one hope, then, of understanding the matter lay with her. To seek her at once in the place where I had been told she awaited me seemed the only course to take.

I was at the door of the boudoir immediately upon forming this resolution. Finding it ajar, I pushed it open, and entered. To my astonishment, the place was very dark. It was with difficulty I detected the slight, black-robed figure which lay face down, among the cushions of a lounge. She had evidently not heard my entrance, for she did not move; and I advanced in a whirl of feeling which made me forget all but that I loved her and had the utmost confidence in her power to make me happy. Laying my hand softly on her head, I tenderly whispered:

"Look up, dear. Whatever barrier may have intervened between us has fallen. Look up and hear how I love you."

She thrilled as a woman only thrills when her secret soul is moved, and, rising, turned her face upon me, glorious with a feeling that not even the dimness of the room could hide.

Why, then, did my brain whirl and my heart collapse?

It was Gilbertine and not Dorothy who stood before me.

Never had a suspicion crossed my mind of any such explanation of our secret troubles.

Meanwhile, misled by my words, Gilbertine drew back a step and murmured:

"Not just yet, it is too soon. Let me simply enjoy the fact that I am free and that the courage to win my release came from my own suddenly acquired trust in Mr. Sinclair's goodness. Last night—" and she shuddered—"I saw only another way—a way the horrors of which I hardly realize. But God saved me from so dreadful, yea, so unnecessary a crime, and this morning—"

It was cruel to let her go on, cruel to stand there and allow this ardent if mistaken nature to unfold itself so ingenuously.

"Gilbertine," I began, "I will make no pretense of misunderstanding you. The situation is too serious, the honor which you do me too great; only, I am not free to accept that honor. The words which I uttered were meant for your cousin Dorothy. I expected to find her in this room. I have long loved your cousin—in secrecy, I own, but honestly and with every hope of some day making her my wife. I—I—"

There was no need for me to finish. The warm hand turning to ice in my clasp, the wide-open, blind-struck eyes, the recoil, told me that the blow had gone home and that Gilbertine Murray, the unequalled beauty, the petted darling of society, had recalled the height of her many miseries and that it was I who had placed her there.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."

Mrs. M. Lodic, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Public Sale of Jerseys

At Thompson's Sale Barn, Rushville
SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1923

12 head of cows with calves at side. 2 head of heavy springing cows. 6 head of heavy springing heifers. The cows are from 3 to 6 years old, most of them extra heavy milkers, will give from 3 to 5 gallons, with fine udders—a real bunch of milk cows.

The heifers are heavy springers, due to freshen soon, and we think as fine a bunch of Jersey heifers as you will see sold this year—a great bunch of prospects.

If you are looking for a real milk cow you should attend this sale as they are unquestionably the best lot of cows and heifers ever sold in my barn.

FRANCE OCCUPIES HEART OF THE RUHR

French Premier Does Not See Any

(By United Press)
Cologne, Jan. 11.—The French
Rhine flotilla is moving today from Mayence down the river to Dusseldorf, and Bisburg.

Nancy, Jan. 11.—Seventy special
trains have been ordered to transfer
the French garrison at Nancy to the Ruhr. The troop movement will take

Dusseldorf, Jan. 11.—General De-
goutte who is to be in command of
this region, arrived to oversee the
forward movements that will back
up the Ruhr occupation force.

Dusseldorf, Jan. 11.—Belgian
troops went forward into the Ruhr
A contingent comprised of two
battalions of infantry, two squad-
rons of cavalry, a field battery, ten
planes advanced from Mulheim, to
the north of Essen.

Paris, Jan. 11.—France occupied
the heart of the Ruhr today. Essen
was surrounded by an army of 35,
000 men. Engineers started work
outlining penalties in coal which Germany must pay for reparations
defaults.

The German government re-called
its ambassadors to Paris and in a
note to the powers warned that
wide-spread troubles may be provoked throughout Europe by France's act.

A French army of cavalry, artilery, infantry and air forces spread
a steel net around Essen, industrial
richest coal producing spot in the world. The Belgians, in lesser numbers, moved in with the French, occupying ground northward of the city. All of the troops are white.

The German protest, contained in
a note sent to France, Italy, and Belgium, was a solemn warning that
industrial revolution might result
from seizure of the Ruhr. Withdraw-
al of the German ambassador did
not constitute a breach of relations,
however, it was announced and the
Berlin.

The line of the newly occupied region; seized at dawn today, runs from Birehausen to Essen to Werden
to Wrattingen.

Two divisions of French infantry
and one of cavalry make up the advance army of occupation. The district held is the richest region of
in coal production.

A little French army, small in
machine ever was before, moved into
the rich Ruhr valley and occupied
territory in the heart of the coal
mining region.

With infantry, cavalry, tanks,
a steel trap around the wealthy industrial city of Essen as a guarantee of German good behavior, French
engineers will not supervise the min-
coal.

Word came back from the army
of occupation headquarters that French troops which had moved for-
ward from Dusseldorf before dawn,
machine guns entered the city.

The main body of troops and artillery spread to the north and
south, surrounding it. The population was calm and factories were
running.

What little tingle of excitement
the French capitol got from the news was enhanced by Germany's
ambassadors, an act at one time

A. W. Wilkinson Honored By Indiana Bakers' Association at

VICE-PRESIDENT LAST YEAR

A. W. Wilkinson, Rushville baker,
who has been prominent for several
years in the Indiana Bakers' association, and who was elected vice-
president last year, was again honored Wednesday when the associa-
Indianapolis.

The sessions are being held at the Claypool hotel in that city, and a
large representation of bakers from all over the state, has been in attendance.

Other officers were M. B. White-
head, Goshen, vice president, and V.
W. Vanderbilt, Indianapolis, treasurer. C. P. Ehlers, Indianapolis, was reappointed secretary.

States Department of Agriculture requiring that loaves labeled "milk
bread" must be made with milk as at least one-third of their liquid content was discussed by the bakers.
Methods for complying with the rule
were outlined.

This afternoon the bakers were to be addressed by A. Wegener of Syracuse, N. Y., on "The Increasing Importance of Milk to the Bread."

The morning session of the convention was given over to the address of the retiring president, Eugene K. Quigg of Richmond, and to reports of the secretary and treasurer. An interesting talk on "Sugars" was also given by C. W. Nord-
land of Philadelphia, a chemist.

Plans To Notify Allies That She Will
Expect Them To Pay—To Appeal
To United States

NOTE FORWARDED TO HUGHES

(By United Press)
Berlin, Jan. 11.—Germany today
planned to notify the allies that coal
seized by them in the Ruhr will be considered as having been stolen and
that the allies must pay for it.

has decided to appeal her case in connection with French occupation
of the Ruhr directly to the United States government, it was learned today.

Dr. Otto Widefeldt, Germany's
ambassador, tomorrow will present
to Secretary of State Hughes a note
which is understood to have been
received from the Berlin government,
setting forth the position of Germany in the face of the French march
into the Ruhr.

Whether the American government
will take any further steps in the European crisis following the orders
for withdrawal of American troops
from Germany, is problematical and
largely depends on developments and
circumstances.

LIVESTOCK MEN IN CENTER OF STAGE FOR MEN AND BOYS

Breeders And Leaders Of Dairy Interests Discuss Problems At

Recognition Given Winners In Hoosier
Ton Litter Club, New Hog

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 11.—The Indiana livestock breeder and the lead-
held the center of the stage today at
the annual farmers' short course at Purdue University. It was livestock and dairy day, primarily and
the stockmen and dairy men were
out in force.

Recognition was given the winners
in the Hoosier Ton Litter Club the
new hog growing project which has
taken the attention of the agricultural interests by storm. Medals
were given each man at especially
arranged exercises held in the livestock judging pavilion on the university.

The Indiana State Dairy Association paid tribute to the best dairy-
men by presenting the medals to
the members of the 300-Pound Cow
Club. To win this honor, a man must have ten or more cows that have
fat during the year.

Annual meetings of the Indiana
Home Economics Association and the Indiana Vegetable Growers' As-
a big delegation out for each session.

R. C. Jenkins, of Orleans, president, presided at the meeting of the Livestock Breeders' Association.
J. R. Wiley of Purdue, who has charge of the Ton Litter contest gave
plans for the coming year. Following this the medals were awarded the 32 men who grew the ton
litters, the 17 who grew silver medal litters and the six in the bronze
medal class. An exhibit of Purdue
livestock was made. J. M. McKee,
of Versailles, Ky., one of the most successful hog men in Kentucky,
gave his methods of management and
marketing, and John G. Imboden, of Decatur, Ill., a highly successful
cattle feeder, spoke on this phase of
livestock business.

This program was followed by
annual meetings of the Indiana
Hereford and Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Associations.

An interesting feature of the
morning program not only for stock-
men but also for all men and women
at the short course was the meat
cutting demonstration by Prof. C.
W. McDonald of Iowa State College.
He cut up both hog and beef car-
casses to obtain the most out of them
and explained how to obtain best results in butchering and curing of
meat.

W. O. Mills of Mooresville, president of the Indiana State Dairy Association, presided at the annual
of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation,
told of the success obtained in that
state in the co-operative marketing
of dairy products. C. R. George,
of the Indiana Farmers Federation
gave the results obtained in co-operative marketing of dairy products
thus far in Indiana.

Prof. L. H. Fairchild discussed
feeding of cows for official records,
after which G. A. Williams of the
the cow testing associations discussed these organizations and their work and announced the winners in
the 300 pound cow class. J. L. Wann
of the extension staff, then told of
the milk campaigns being waged in
tained. Dr. E. B. Haskins, Indianapolis, in charge of bovine tuberculosis eradication in this state for
work thus far accomplished in Indiana in overcoming t. b. in cows.
Dr. Haskins reported that 12,572
herds had passed one disease-free
tests, these herds representing 92,
426 head. The number of fully accredited herds is 2,265 or 34,670
head of cattle. There are 15,812
herds of cattle under supervision

E. Richard Edwards Will Speak on
Came Back," Sunday Afternoon

TO CLOSE WITH PIANOLOGUE

Church Lacks Little of Being Full
Wednesday Night

The Rev. E. Richard Edwards of Logansport, Ind., who is conducting
a series of revival meetings at the Main Street Christian church, will
speak at a special meeting for men
and boys, which is being arranged
for Sunday afternoon at the church.
will be "How The Tramp Came Back," closing with a "Pianoogue".
Homer Cole's orchestra will provide
special music for the meeting.

The large auditorium of the
church lacked but little of being
filled for the services Wednesday evening. The fine audience listened attentively to another one of the Rev.
Mr. Edwards' very interesting and soul-uplifting sermons on the subject of "What Is the Gospel? Why It's Powers?", in which he presented the definition given by Paul to the Corinthians declaring the Gospel
to be the death, burial and resurrection of Christ.

This was the "good news" that
has brought light, life and hope to
all men everywhere this Gospel has
been preached—the Gospel of God's love to all mankind as expressed in Christ His Son, the speaker said.

Tonight the subject of the sermon
will be "Three Parables About Three Prodigals". Friday evening the sermon will be of special interest to
the young people of the city, the
theme being "The Trophy Rooms of
the Soul." Especially are the high school young men and women invited
to this service.

Mrs. Derby Green will sing a solo
members of the other churches are
in attendance each evening and a
most brotherly and Christian-like
church leaders. The Rev. Mr. Mc-
Coglin, pastor of the Christian church at Milroy, was present last night and offered prayer.

drews, Star Witness

(By United Press)

Court House, Bastrop, La., Jan.
11.—Fred Higginbotham, named as a
member of the "terrorist band" charged
with the murder of Watt Daniel and Thomas Richards, testified in court here today, that he had been a victim of mob attacks.

Higginbotham told how he was held
up by a group of black masked men
a week before Richards and Daniel
were brutally murdered.

Federal agents declared they had
discovered what appeared to have
been an attempt to assassinate W.
O. Andrews, one of the state's star
witnesses. A bullet mark was found
in the door of Andrews' automobile
but he was unable to tell how or
when the dent was made.

Higginbotham said the hold-up occurred while he was enroute to Mer
Rouge. "Armed men jumped into the
road and forced me to stop," he
said. "After ordering me to wait a
moment, I was commanded to turn
around and go back to Bastrop."

The witness admitted he was a charter member of the Ku Klux Klan
in the parish. "Captain Skipwith is eyeclops," he said. Higginbotham said
he had never been delegated to perform any duty in connection with
his Klan membership. He swore he had no recollection of what was discussed at the meetings.

NEW SUITS PLACED ON FILE

The case of Ray Owen against Owen L. Carr, a complaint to set aside judgment and default, was
heard this morning in the circuit
court before Judge Sparks, and the
matter was taken under advisement,
following the presentation of the evidence by both sides. Only a few witnesses were used, and not much
time was required with the matter.

A new suit has been placed on file, in which Ira Martin, owner of
the Martin Hardware store of St.
Paul, Ind., is plaintiff and Minnie Linville and Lon Linville are defendants, the complaint being on a note.
The plaintiff alleges that a note was
negotiated and that it is not paid
out; and that he should be entitled
to $200 judgment.

Five damage suits, all against John N. Larnore, originating in the Henry circuit court, will be sent here for trial, according to a Newcastle dispatch. The complaints were brought
following an automobile accident
and the plaintiffs are Benjamin
Sleeth, Anna Sleeth, William F. Hol-
lis and Jennie Hollis the latter having two complaints.

It is expected that the cases will
arrive here in a few days and will be

Coming to The Mystic

"Desert's Crucible" is the title of the latest Ben. Wilson drama, starring Jack Hoxie, written and directed by Roy Clements. All concerned have produced a successful offering, which will be presented at the Mystic theatre on Saturday.

The Fires of the Desert try men. They go through the fire of suffering, and savage life, and are made over.

You have not such chance in big cities, where life is artificial, as you have far from the haunts of men, of proving your manhood. It is trying enough in all conscience to continue to be a man in the stifling rush of the New York Subway at the rush hour at Times Square. But take some young fellow with the veneer of civilization upon him, pluck him from the artificiality of New York, and throw him among the red-blooded men of the wilds or the gold fields of Nevada, and it would be interesting to watch what would happen to him.

Jack Hoxie has to go through some such ordeal as this in the part that he plays in "Desert's Crucible", and he comes out of it a "he-man" all right.

Today's program consisted of the seventh episode of the serial "Timber Queen," in which Ruth Roland is starred, and a western, Dick Hatton in "Fearless Dick," "Conceit" and Selznick News were the offerings today.

"The Old Homestead"

Old Homestead" wander? That is the question many playgoers has asked themselves. Now the answer is shown by Paramount in the screen version of the play, directed by James Cruze, which is being shown at the Princess again today and Friday.

Macao, China, is the principal scene shown in the wanderings of Reuben, played by Harrison Ford, who meets there Happy Jack, portrayed by F. Roy Barnes. The great casino or gambling palace, constructed for the purpose, was peopled with many characters and among those were:

As the story is now told, Reuben, after his escape from prison in Ganzy, lands in China. Down and out he finds there the tramp who helped him make his escape and who is winning at the gambling tables. He stakes Reuben to return to America and himself later turns up at the old homestead to find Reuben exonerated and everyone happy. Happy Jack as a tag line declares that it is funny how they all come back to the old homestead!

significant of impending declaration of war. It was understood in official circles that the German government did not intend to break off diplomatic relations.

Another factor of the situation discussed by the French was the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine.

Premier Poincare, it was stated authoritatively, does not see any relation between the Ruhr advance and the American government's action. The withdrawal, he thinks, is a little unfortunate but not an unforeseen act.

There was some fear of an industrial move by Germany against French occupation of the Ruhr, such as a general strike by workers, or a closing down of factories.

By CARL D. GROAT.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Essen, Jan. 11.—French troops entered Essen at 9 o'clock this morning, encountering no resistance.

Blue-clad cavalry appeared at the outskirts of Essen—Bredene, suburb of this city; a few minutes before the hour. Three tanks, sent on ahead yesterday, which had squatted like huge toads at the cross roads all night, came suddenly to life and led the march into the city proper.

Other cavalry converged on Essen on several roads. Then came infantry, spreading out gradually to north and south to form the jaws of the trap of steel that is to hold this rich industrial center while France collects.

There was no trouble this morning as the horizon blue of the first Poulus showed in the outskirts and none was anticipated.

The citizens of Essen are preparing a protest to the United States and strict prohibition is to be enforced. Otherwise life will go on as normally as the Germans can make it.

The army that had marched before daybreak came rapidly on into Essen. Along the line of march, as the first cavalry passed, other tanks that had lain in wait rumbled into the procession. There were numbers of them on the road from Kettwig to Bredene.

As the French troops swung eastward through the lifting fog, the columns passed German stolid teamsters, puffing on their pipes, driving out to farms or markets, displaying only mild curiosity at the sight of the advancing French hosts.

The French cavalrymen were gay as they pranced through Kettwig, their picked charges mincing over the heavy cobblestones. They chanted little snatches of French songs and their pennants fluttered gaily in the morning sun.

The long blue line on its eastward march wound around the steep, hairpin curves of sharp hills above the Ruhr river, then dropped down to the flats along the banks and into Kettwig.

The path ran straight before them, into Bredene. The first of the cavalry that reached the outskirts of Essen was in three sections, with outposts ahead to stir the tanks to action and pass the word to the countryside that the French were coming.

Germany Recalls Ministers

Berlin, Jan. 11.—Germany has recalled her ambassador from Paris and her minister from Brussels, but does not intend the move as a diplomatic rupture, it was stated officially.

The German charge d'affaires will remain at Paris to act as ambassador and similar arrangements will be made for relations with Belgium.

The act of the Guno government in withdrawing its representatives from France and Belgium came immediately after receipt of notification of France's intention to occupy the Ruhr, starting today. Germany made this move as a protest.

A Real First-Aid Method to Relieve and Break up Colds

To Stimulate the Circulation, Heat up the Chilled Blood and Flush the Waste Poisons From the Intestines and Bowels

It is a recognized fact that hot medicinal herb tea is one of the very best home remedies to use to assist in breaking up colds which when neglected often develop into influenza, pneumonia or other serious sickness. It is old fashioned of course, but nevertheless its effectiveness is readily admitted everywhere today.

Many physicians now advise their patients to always have on hand a supply of medicinal tea for emergency purposes.

Harsh, drastic, habit-forming drugs should be avoided. The risk to one's general health is too great, because certain drugs have a tendency to depress the heart action and disturb the nervous system.

Millions of people all over the world are today using Bulgarian Herb Tea as a reliable first-aid to help break up colds, and also to keep the intestines and bowels cleansed and free of the waste poisons that so often cause sickness and all health.

Bulgarian Herb Tea is prescribed by many physicians, and druggists everywhere honestly recommended this pure healthful laxative tea tonic to their customers. Why not see your druggist at once and get a small package for emergency purposes? You or some other member of your family may need it to help fight a cold this winter.

PERFECT PEACE:—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26: 3.

Bettering Rush County

Rush county breathes and lives through the land. Whatever is of most interest to agriculture likewise is of most interest to every community in Rush county. The interests of farming business and those of the county seat and the other towns of the county are undeniably linked together. That which is done to improve farming is an improvement for the whole county.

A public sale pavilion in Rushville would be of immense value and service to the farmers of Rush county.

It would provide a place where farmers could hold private sales and where combination auctions could be held to great advantage to the buyer and the seller.

The central location of the county seat would offer the seller a greater market and with a large demand, prices would naturally improve. A farm sale in a large commodious building in Rushville would naturally attract more buyers because of the convenience afforded and because of ease with which the place could be reached, as compared with a sale in some remote corner of the county.

A public sale pavilion could be adapted for community purposes, such as basketball games, exhibits of county products and other events. We have been compelled to let the county products show go by this winter because no suitable place is available. The first one last year gave promise of being a very creditable thing for Rush county, but it bloomed forth with great prospects only to die because the facilities were not here for handling it. The farmers of Rush county have the live stock and the produce and they are more than willing to show it. So it's up to some one to provide the place.

There should be enough public-spirited men in Rush county to form a stock company and erect a building of this kind that would meet the needs of the county such as it would. Such a step would be a service that would reap rich rewards not only in community benefit, but also for the individuals that fostered such a project.

Teaching by Example

While the administration at Washington is trying to sell the country on a merchant marine, the people of the middlewest, where the most opposition to the measure is found, are wondering why the administration itself is not sold on the proposition.

Many are confounded when they try to harmonize the appeals of those in favor of American-owned vessels with the attitude of the administration and its representatives.

The Hodge-Podge

By a Paraphraser with a Soul

Emile Coue has converted Mary Garden and the first thing he knows a face powder or perfume will be named after him.

The marshal, street commissioner, public school custodian and street cleaner of Leesburg, working for $250 a year, quit because the town board decided to curtail expenses, and it wouldn't take a federal court decision to convince us he is right.

There are 37,175,233 cotton spinning spindles in the United States, of which 34,664,630 are being operated, thus convincing us that not all of the people are spending their time riding around in automobiles.

The fellow who can get the wrong number all day and still smile belongs in the hall of fame.

Careless Charlie drops us a line to ask whether auto-suggestion is a new 1923 model.

This man Coue has been the salvation of the paraphraser, because he has taken their thoughts off prohibition, at least for the moment.

It's a good trait to argue when the occasion arises, but first be sure you are right.

BULLET EXPLODES IN PPE

James Moore, Rural Mail Carrier, Narrowly Escapes Injury

James Moore, a rural route carrier, who resides at 1015 North Perkins street narrowly escaped injury Tuesday night at his home when a .22 Calibre cartridge was accidentally placed in the bowl of his pipe, and exploded when the fire reached it.

The pipe was blown from his mouth and his face was slightly burned from the hot ashes, and tobacco filled his eyes. The bullet missed his head a few inches. The cartridge which was carried loose in his pocket, with his tobacco and was placed in the pipe.

A case in point is that of George Harvey, American ambassador to King George's court, who came over to the United States on a diplomatic mission aboard a British-owned ship. And he had the suite de lux.

That in itself seems a small matter but the folks out here who are not directly affected by maritime business are inclined to give an incident of this character more importance than it probably deserves. It merely goes to show that the administration can best convince the people of the United States that it believes in an American merchant marine by supporting the American vessels that are still sailing the high seas, even though they don't carry bars.

Turning The Tables

We have seen frisky motorists go tearing along the highways and laugh sardonically when some pedestrian had to jump to keep from being crushed under the wheels.

If the tables could be reversed, and the motorists were required to make a lightning jump to save his own hide, he might do a little cussing himself.

And, too, he might realize what an unmitigated nuisance he is to the public and how low he stands in the estimation of law abiding motorists and the public at large.

HIGH SCHOOL FACES STIFF OPPOSITION

RUSHVILLE HAS IMPROVED

Rushville high school basketball team will face a stiff proposition here Friday night, when the Columbus team will invade the local court for a forty minute tilt. The Columbus team gave Rushville their worst defeat of the season last November, but since that time the Scarlet aggregation has shown some improvement and may give the visiting team a harder game than is expected.

Columbus has made a good record this year, but has been defeated by some of the best teams, losing to Vincennes, Frankfort, Franklin, and Manual of Indianapolis.

The preliminary game for tomorrow night will be played between the Rushville second team and the team from the Gings high school.

Tickets have been received here for the game at Connersville next Friday week, January 19, and they may be secured from E. B. Butler, high school principal. Only one hundred tickets are available, and every seat in the gymnasium will be sold before the game, and no one will be admitted unless they have a ticket.

Courage Biggest Asset in Sport

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 11—Some years back Johnny McTaggart started out to be the best jockey on the track. He was one of the leading riders of the country and his services were in great demand.

One day in 1918 he went down in a spill and was badly injured. When he got back in the saddle again he found his nerve had departed. He had acquired a family and he didn't like the risks.

Successful riders, as successes in all sport, have to have the heart to take chances and McTaggart slipped from the successful class.

He was still game in the belief that it would come back to him and he was courageous enough to fight the worst of all battles—with himself.

Leaving the big tracks, he went around to the smaller ones and fought until the old daring came back.

He returned to the big time late in the last season and rode with his former class. Trainers and owners whispered among themselves: "Johnny's got his nerve back."

Recovering, Fewster came back to the Yanks and instead of showing timidity at the bat he seemed over-daring and the pitchers were almost afraid of him. His heart surely was there and his courage never had been weakened, but the injury left him physically weak and he was unable to play in hot weather, dizzy spells seizing him when the sun boiled down on his head.

Fewster is still in the business, still fighting to come clear back. He is expected to be one of the regulars of the Boston Red Sox next season and if his heart has anything to do with it, he will.

Jack Kid Wolfe, of Cleveland, used to be rated several years ago as one of the greatest bantamweights in the ring. He was a near champion and was going good with featherweights.

The Kid went out of his class and hit a street car and was nearly ruined. His head was all cut up and he was generally reduced almost to junk.

He recovered, but his eyes were bad and his shoulders were bound. Friends patted him on the back and told him it was too bad. He had a family and he hadn't saved much money.

Everyone believed he was all in, but the Kid himself. Managers all gave him the laugh when he wanted to work for them but finally Tommy McGinty took him and the Kid is back.

He may never be a champion now, but he's got the heart of a champion and he's a first rater making money—one of the main ideas.

During the past summer he fought Frankie Jerome in New York. Jerome knocked him down seven times in the first round and five times more in the second, but the Kid kept bobbing up and then he started.

The judges gave the decision to Jerome, but it was the best draw anyone ever saw.

a big score, but Newcastle has promised to make the next game closer. You know they like 'em close.

If the Shoe Fits—

Expert coaches slip us a tip. They say that girls and cigarettes are bad for the player in training. The players know that cigarettes are against the rule, but they can't figure how a date will cause them to fall down in the game. Late hours, and idle dreams, is as bad as nicotine, so they say. You don't suppose there is any connection with the Rushville team, do you?

Coach Mendenhall of Newcastle laid off his best players when they played Rushville, because they broke training rules. Watch 'em close coach; they might be breakin' 'em again before they play down here on February 2.

Moscow, we are all here but you. Why not answer present, now and then.

Sally, who lives down near our alley, wants to correct us. She says that Milton is a poet, and not a basketball team. But listen, Sal, ol' girl, Hittin' 'em asked Cliff Mitchell about it, and he vouches for the truth, and says that his Baldigh team is really going to play Milton Friday night, and that Milton is a town 'way up there someplace.

Hittin' 'em's First Boquet

Ollie, Rushville's back guard, came down to give us the glad hand. Says he is glad it is us, and not him, because he was threatened several times today. Ollie said it was good stuff, and we believe him, don't you? (That is another boquet).

Earns Right to Take Fling at Champ By Defeating Conti

Young Jake overwhelmed Conti in the third block of their match here last night, counting 500 to the Frenchman's 131.

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu." 35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

CARPENTER WINS A MAT DECISION

Only one fall was obtained, Carpenter winning the lone pin after 1 hour 38 minutes and 23 seconds of wrestling with a head-lock. This left 21 minutes and 37 seconds to complete the match. Reynolds made a desperate effort to put the bout all square with aggressive points in his favor in the way of a decision and a fall needed in the limited time remaining, but was held off chiefly through the running-away tactics of the visitor. Twice Jack clamped on the deadly leg-split and once the Japanese foe held, only to have his opponent wiggle off the mat. Prior to the first fall, on three different occasions Carpenter was all but pinned with the "ripper" and skidded off the mat.

If I Knew Advertising—

I COULD very easily cash in on my knowledge. In the evening, or in my spare hours, I could pass my knowledge along to the small merchant in my neighborhood who desires to get the most out of his advertising. It would make no difference whether he advertised only in hand-bill form, or on movie slides, or cards, I could prepare powerful copy for him, and show him how to do likewise.

Of course, I would have to do some advertising myself to get business, the same as any one else. The way I would choose in this instance would be a Daily Republican Want Ad.

Misplaced Love Lead to Tragedy

CHAPTER XI

She paused, and stood for a moment confronting us all with proud eyes and flaming cheeks, then amid a hubbub which did not seem to affect her in the least, she stepped down, and approaching the man who, she had been told, had a right to her full confidence, she said, loud enough for all who wished to hear her:

He bowed and as they disappeared from the great hall the hubbub of voices became tumultuous.

I found myself averse to any kind of talk. Till I could meet Sinclair's eye, I should not feel free to be my own ordinary self again. But Sinclair showed every evidence of wishing to keep in the background, and I thought it odd and very unlike him not to give me an opportunity to express my congratulations at the turn affairs had taken and the frank attitude assumed by Gilbertine. Before I knew it, I was the prey of fresh doubts which I did my best to smother, because I was still too much under the influence of Gilbertine's personality to wish to believe aught but what her words conveyed. She must have spoken the truth, but was it the entire truth? Ah, Dorothy! it was time some one told her that Gilbertine had openly vindicated her and that she could now come forth and face her friends without hesitation and without dread. Was she still in the conservatory?

Approaching the place by the small door connecting it with the hall-way in which I stood, I took a hurried look within. It was empty, and so was the library beyond. Coming back, I accosted Dutton and asked him if he knew where Miss

Camerden was? He answered that she stood in the rear hall a little while before, listening to Miss Murray; that she had then gone up stairs by the spiral staircase, leaving word with him that if anybody wanted her she would be found in the small boudoir over the porch.

I thanked him and was on my way to join her, when Mr. Armstrong called me. He must have kept me a half-hour in his room, discussing every aspect of the affair. I presently found myself again in the hall, where the first person I ran against was Sinclair.

He started and so did I at this unexpected encounter. Then we stood still, and I stared at him in amazement, for everything about the man was changed, and in nothing was this change more marked than in his attitude toward myself. Yet he tried to be friendly.

"You heard what Gilbertine said. There is no reason for doubting her words. I do not doubt them and you will show yourself my friend by not doubting them either." Then with some impetuosity he pursued: "Our wedding is postponed indefinitely. There are reasons why this seemed best to Miss Murray. To you, I will say that postponed nuptials seldom culminate in marriage. In fact, I have just released Miss Murray from all obligations to myself."

What was I to say, what could I say, in response to such a declaration, following so immediately upon his warm assertion of her innocence? Nothing.

He saw my embarrassment, possibly my emotion, for he smiled somewhat bitterly and remarked:

"Miss Murray has my good wishes. Out of respect to her position I shall show her a friend's attention while we remain in this house. That is all I have to say, Walter. You and I have held our last conversation on this subject."

He was gone before I had sufficiently recovered to realize that in this conversation I had had no part neither had it contained any explanation of the very facts which had once formed our greatest grounds for doubt, namely, Beaton's dream, the smothered cry uttered behind Sinclair's shoulder when he first made known the deadly qualities of the little vial, and lastly, the strange desire acknowledged to by both these young ladies to touch and hold an object calculated rather to repel than to attract the normal feminine heart.

My one desire was to act, and that immediately. Dorothy, for all Gilbertine's intimation to the contrary, held the key to the enigma in her own breast.

I was at the door of the boudoir immediately upon forming this resolution. Finding it ajar, I pushed it open, and entered. To my astonishment, the place was very dark. It was with difficulty I detected the slight, black-robed figure which lay face down, among the cushions of a lounge. She had evidently not heard my entrance, for she did not move; and I advanced in a whirl of feeling which made me forget all but that I loved her and had the utmost confidence in her power to make me happy. Laying my hand softly on her head, I tenderly whispered:

She thrilled as a woman only thrills when her secret soul is moved, and, rising, turned her face upon me, glorious with a feeling that not even the dimness of the room could hide.

Why, then, did my brain whirl and my heart collapse?

It was Gilbertine and not Dorothy who stood before me.

Never had a suspicion crossed my mind of any such explanation of our secret troubles.

"Not just yet, it is too soon. Let me simply enjoy the fact that I am free and that the courage to win my release came from my own suddenly acquired trust in Mr. Sinclair's goodness. Last night—and she shuddered—"I saw only another way—a way the horrors of which I hardly realize. But God saved me

It was cruel to let her go on, cruel to stand there and allow this ardent if mistaken nature to unfold itself so ingenuously.

"Gilbertine," I began, "I will make no pretense of misunderstanding you. The situation is too serious, the honor which you do me too great; only, I am not free to accept that honor. The words which I uttered were meant for your cousin Dorothy. I expected to find her in this room. I have long loved your cousin—in secret, I own, but honestly and with every hope of some day making her my wife. I—I—"

There was no need for me to finish. The warm hand turning to ice in my clasp, the wide-open, blind-struck eyes, the recoil, told me that the blow had gone home and that Gilbertine Murray, the unequalled beauty, the petted darling of society, had recalled the height of her many miseries and that it was I who had placed her there.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Mrs. Lodie Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my housework. I would not be without a bottle in the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong. It is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women how it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."—Mrs. M. Lodie, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
